I am totally for drug testing, we probably need more of it. Also, I am a paruetic (I have shy bladder syndrome). This ailment is hard to explain, I don't even understand it myself. I have been to the doctor about it and he recognizes how debilitating it is. I cannot urinate when anyone is even close to me (whether outside a door or not). If there are any alternatives to drug testing other than a urine sample, I would like that to be available (I don't like needles, but I would give blood) I would even pay for the extra cost. Please consider this terrible ailment. Paruresis is real!!!!

Thanks for your consideration.
